Planting a Brighter Future!

Leila Arboretum Children's Garden

Who said plants weren't as exciting as animals?

Bring your imagination to these gardens that are filled with plants that are strikingly similar to animals both fierce and friendly! Some of them even sing and dance. You'll also find out why beautiful butterflies depend on an assortment of plants to provide what they need throughout their lifecycle.

Did you know:

- ✔ Animals depend on plants for food, shelter, nests, and places to raise their young.
- ✔ Plants depend on animals for pollination, seed dispersal, and recycling of nutrients.
- ✔ Just like animals have their colors of their coats to help them hide, plants have certain colors to help them get pollinated, or noticed.
